Attention Multilingual Students

Do you need help with editing and proofreading your writing assignments?

The Composition for Multilingual Students (CMS) Program is offering a 3-unit grammar/editing class specifically for upper-division and graduate students whose first language is not English. English 415 is an upper-division course to be taken concurrently with your GWAR or other writing-intensive class. You will receive instruction and practice in editing your written assignments for accuracy and style, and learn the correct format for citations.

All coursework is related to your writing class assignments.
No extra writing required!

Fall 2014 Course Information:

ENG 415: Grammar and Editing for Multilingual Students

MW 12:10 – 13:25
Kirstin Hilbert (khilbert@sfsu.edu)

✓ No tests or exams!
✓ No extra writing or reading!
✓ No recommendation needed from your GWAR or other instructor or the CMS Program to register for this class
✓ You may take ENG 415 with any writing-intensive course, including major or graduate writing classes (it doesn’t need to be a GWAR class)
✓ This course may be taken CR/NC or ABC/NC

For more information please contact the CMS Program
HUM 112 • 415-338-1320 • cmls@sfsu.edu